HOPE FOR MAYO TRAIL LETTING

Section From Louisa To Paintsville May be Let in June.

Several delegates from Lawrence county went to Frankfort Monday, before the State Road Commission in regard to letting the contract for building the Mayo Trail from Louisa to Paintsville. The trip was the result of a letter received recently from the State Highway Engineer indicating that nothing further would be done on the Mayo Trail until some time later, when more funds become available.

The Highway Commission was in session and a hearing was granted. It was agreed that engineers shall be sent in next week to make some changes that have been decided upon as necessary to save costs and expedite the matter of getting the route ready to advertise. It is hoped to clear away all obstacles in time for a letting in June.

All Big Sandy counties were represented by delegations, mention of which is made elsewhere.

The Lawrence county delegates were Judge M. B. Sparks, County Attorney, G. W. Castle, A. J. Garred, R. C. McClure, M. F. Conley, and Magistrates V. B. Shortridge, R. W. Vinson and M. V. Frazier.

Loating Stations For New Refinery Ready

Loating stations at Potters, Ky., and Glenhayes, W. Va., erected for the purpose of holding the crude oil supply from the Lawrence county, Kentucky, and West Virginia fields, which is to be shipped by barge to the Great Eastern Refining company's new plant at Leach's station, three miles south of Catlettsburg on the Big Sandy division of the C. & O. were completed this week.

The capacity of the new refinery will be 500 barrels a day when in full operation. This will be increased, however, according to the successful continuance of operations.

The new plant is approximately half finished, all the main storage tanks having been completed. The main battery of stills will be set Monday. The entire plant will be completed, barring all bad weather, by May 1. By June operation will be well underway.

The Great Eastern Refining Company, organized several months ago, will operate the largest crude oil refinery in Eastern Kentucky when fully completed. The plant itself is an enormous business asset to Catlettsburg as well as the surrounding community.—Ashland Independent.

Virgil Rice's Body Crushed Beneath 'Car

The Ashland Independent of Sunday says:—Internal injuries received when his automobile overturned yesterday afternoon on the Midland Trail may cause the death of Virgil Rice, 25, of McCue Hill, before the day is over, it was learned at his bedside in the Kings' Daughter's hospital early today.

Rice's body was crushed when he was pinned beneath the overturned car and physicians gave up hope of saving his life, following an examination.

His companion, a man named Alex Frazier, who caught the Big Sandy train for Louisa shortly after the accident happened was only slightly injured.

The two men were brought to Ashland by Bert Geiger of South Ashland who seeing the serious condition of Rice rushed him to the hospital after leaving Frazier at the C. & O. station.

Rice is an employee of the Kentucky Solvay plant. His home is in Magoffin county but he stays with a brother on East Winchester avenue.

Frazier told Mr. Geiger that he and Rice were coming to Ashland in a Ford car. He said that as they were near the culvert at number eight mine, the car ran into the concrete wall and overturned pinning Rice beneath it.

The wreck occurred about 2:30 p. m. yesterday.

This lease is owned and operated by Dalton & Kelly, who are the chief owners of the refinery.

New Mail Route to Martin County

A notice has been posted in the post office at Inez calling for bids on a mail route from Inez to Richardson.

All mail to Inez in former years was brought over this route but some few years ago it was discontinued by the post office department in favor of the route to Kermit. Owing to the bad roads to the latter place this winter which hindered the carrying of the mail that way the old route has been re-established. The mail will leave Richardson about 8 o'clock in the morning and will arrive at Inez about 1 o'clock p. m. The mail carrier will start back to Richardson at that time and will arrive there at 5 p. m. The route to Kermit will still be continued, says the Martin County Advertiser.

This will be a great convenience to the people of Inez. They will be able to receive their mail from points up and down Big Sandy river the same day that it is sent.

Bids on the route were to be received up to April 11. The successful bidder is expected to take charge of the mail on May 1.

While the schools made progress under the Bradner regime a new school board was elected and they made the fight on the grounds that Bradner has been here long enough.

The important thing happened after the case was submitted to the jury. The jurors could not agree on a verdict. They paced to and fro arguing and gesturing and six of them wondered why the other six were so mulish.

During the lull Bickel, the litigant, again became Bickel the salesman. He got busy. He talked to everybody in hearing distance while awaiting the verdict. He even talked to McComas against whom he sought judgment. Yes, and he talked insurance. Finally, McComas decided he had made a mistake in permitting the cancellation of the policy in litigation. Alice Hastings, 6-year-old girl of Illinois, has just returned from a year spent in the jungles of Kivu country, Belgian Congo, Africa. Her experiences, of being carried through jungles by natives, as shown above; seeing lions and gorillas slain, and visiting with pigmy tribes, vie with Alice in Wonderland adventures.

Her father, a Chicago lawyer, was a member of Carl E. Akeley's exploring party. Her mother and two other women also made the trip.

Alice, though only 5 years old at the time, was taller than the chief of a pigmy tribe visited. He thought her curls false. She was the first white child the tribe had ever seen.

SKAGGS

Fruit trees and grass are looking fine. We hope Easter, with her cold spell, will be mild enough to spare our fruit.

The work here in the oil field is getting quite lively. There is a drilling rig now on Parish and Menifee Sparks' place. Lusher & Lusher are drilling on Andy Skaggs' farm. E. A. Garrison is rigging up on Jas. H. Holbrook's farm. Harry Sheff and Dick Skaggs have commenced spudding on C. C. Holbrook's. Mr. Wade has just drilled in another good well on P. P. Holbrook's farm. This makes 9 good wells for Peas. His income is now $50 per day.

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your neighbor.

Plenty of Louisa evidence of their worth.

Mrs. A. Waller, Railroad St., Louisa, says: "I have a very good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills ever since they cured me of an attack of kidney trouble and I gladly recommend them. I had been feeling weak and run down for some time before the attack came on. My eyes began to get swollen and puffy underneath and I would turn quite dizzy, especially when stooping forward. I could see black specks before my eyes and my back kept me in misery, it ached so continually. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, so I sent to the Louisville Drug Store Co. and got two boxes. I used Doan's as directed and they cured me up in good shape."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Waller had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Cochran's Verdict
Affirmed by U. S.
Appellate Court

The United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati in the case of Beaver Creek Consolidated Coal Company versus the Webb heirs on Wednesday affirmed a decree rendered by Judge A. M. J. Cochran of the United States district court, entered about one year ago, involving the title to 400 acres of choicest Elkhorn by-product coal on Beaver creek in Floyd county.

This litigation has been in state and federal courts for nine years and has been watched with great interest throughout the entire Big Sandy valley coal section of Kentucky on account of the importance of the question involved as effecting titles as coal properties. Every resident of the Big Sandy valley and coal region of Eastern Kentucky was vitally interested in the outcome of this unusually interesting case.

The property involved belonged to six heirs of A. P. Webb. The coal company desiring to acquire the title there to make contract with the guardian of these heirs, under which she agreed to sell the coal to the coal company at the price of $10 per acre and to take the necessary legal proceedings to have the property sold under judgment of the court.

The sale took place and the coal company became the purchaser at the price agreed upon. Upon appeal of the Kentucky court of appeals it was decided that the judgment was erroneous and it was reversed. The court held, however, that as it did not appear that the coal company was not a good faith purchaser, its title would be protected.

In the case just decided by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals it was charged by the Webb heirs, and according to the finding of the court sustained by proof, that the coal company was not a bona fide purchaser because through its own council and agents it conducted the original case in which sale of the property was sought and was therefore the moving force and effective cause which produced the erroneous judgment.

Under the order of the court these infant children are restored to the possession of the coal which for several years has been operated by a large mining company.

Body of Eph Boggs
to Arrive in Mingo

Until there is reliable information that the body of Eph Boggs will arrive here this week definite arrangements for the funeral of the first Mingo county boy who lost his life in the World war will not be completed.

However, it is now expected that the funeral will be held at Matewan Sunday. As previously announced, John L. Chaffin and E. D. Strohecker compose the committee on arrangements representing the local Legion post, which was named in honor of the heroic Boggs.

The body is one of many that arrived recently in Hoboken from France.

Eph Boggs was a son of J. M. Boggs, the present mayor of Matewan. He was born in Carter county, Ky., on February 22, 1893, but the family moved to this county when he was a small child. In 1914, the year the war started, but three years before Uncle Sam became a participant, young Boggs enlisted in the regular army. As a result he was a member of the First division, which crossed the Atlantic a few months after war was declared against the central empires by the United States.

Boggs was killed in action on March 3, 1918, nine days after his 25th birthday.

It is presumed that C. P. Boggs, a brother, also made the supreme sacrifice. He was reported missing in action and no tidings ever came of the fate that befell him.

Still another patriotic boy left the Boggs home to engage in the great conflict. That was "Dutch" Boggs, now at Matewan. Two other brothers, Clayton and Everett, both of Matewan and four sisters, namely, Mrs. Lizzie Deskins, of Nolan; Mrs. Lulu Bodenheimer of Matewan; Mrs. Hattie Rogers of Freeburn, and Mrs. Mary Rogers of Akron, O., survive.—Williamson News.

Arrival of Heroes
Who Died on Field of Battle Honored

New York, April 4.—Arrival of the last of America's 70,000 war dead was commemorated in Brooklyn.

One body, that of Private Charles W. Graves, of Rome Ga., symbolized for the time, the bodies of the 1,065 soldiers which were returned from France last week on the United States troop ship Cambrai.

Amid the hushed vastness of an army pier, his 1,064 silent comrades, in long, unbroken ranks of flag-draped caskets maintained the bivouac of the dead, while sorrowing thousands, of high and low degree, paid the last respect of a grateful nation.

His body, encircled on a gun caisson and drawn by six horses, had been borne through the ranks of silent multitudes. Stern Generals had saluted the flag which draped him. Guns had boomed in his honor, statesmen had eulogized his deeds, mothers had wept over him and "taps" the soldier's farewell, had given him Godspeed.

The body of Private Graves had been chosen to receive the honors of the day, because of the 1,065 aboard the troopship he was the last to be taken from shipboard and placed on his native soil.

Teachers Seeking Certificates Must go to High School

Frankfort, Ky., March 30.—After July 1 of this year, all applicants for teachers' certificates will have to have one year of high school training or its equivalent and five weeks of professional training. In view of this provision of the new school law Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin is calling the attention of school superintendents to the two examinations for teacher's certificates to be held before this provision of the law goes into effect, the first on May 19 and 20 and the second on June 16 and 17.

County teacher training schools have been established primarily to enable teachers to meet these requirements. Any teacher can secure high school and professional credits by attending the county teacher training schools.

They can obtain the same credits by attending the summer session of any teacher training institution supported or recognized by the State.

In addition to the credits that may be secured by attending county training schools, teachers may also increase their salary as the salary schedules for this year will provide, as last year, for an increase of salary for all those who do the required work in any summer school of six weeks' length, supported or recognized by the State.

Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "Later I suffered from weakness and back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night. I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Why the $10.90 USCO is better than just a $10.90 tire

IN November 10, 1921, the 30 x 3½ "Usco" was marked to sell for $10.90.

This odd and closely figured price was the lowest quotation ever made on any tire of known standards.

A genuine pioneering step by the makers of U. S. Tires.

Now comes a lot of different $10.90 tires being rushed into the market. "Special" tires. "New" treads.

Unfamiliar to look at—with perhaps an atmosphere of having been made to meet the price.

But the "Usco" still occupies a place by itself. A good old standby on millions of cars for years. Better than it ever was.

Still putting the emphasis on honest quality, even if it does sell for only ten dollars and ninety cents.

The $10.90 tire with the record of a proven product.

The tire that people still buy for the dignity of its quality regardless of the low amount they pay.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

A COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE AT EVENING TIDE.

EASTER.

New hope, new joy, new life—that is the significance of Easter. During the year our material plans may go astray, troubles may assail us and the world may seem a dark, dreary place indeed. But with the coming of Easter we are reminded that material things count as naught for only the spiritual has power and permanent actuality. We learn that as we cease to trust in the material, we are no longer made unhappy by existing material conditions. Striving for spiritual happiness we gain joy and peace, and material difficulties miraculously disappear.

Christ, in overcoming the greatest obstacles the world has ever known, set an example for us. And though the way may often seem difficult yet each year at Easter time we gain new strength and courage, knowing that the Resurrection has as vital a meaning for us now as it did for the people nineteen centuries ago.

Four years ago this month we entered the Great War. But why remember and dwell on the fact? Surely it is not a pleasant or profitable pastime. Memory in a great many cases is harmful and at best it is unnecessary. The present is for us to make the most of. The past is to forget. Lessons, it is true, can be drawn from the past, but they are profitable only when applied to the present and not when dwelt upon with sorrow and regret.

Many people never cease to mourn their mistakes. Certainly mistakes are regrettable, but why give them more chance to harm by thinking of them and by constantly wasting time wishing they had never happened. Make each mistake a rung in the ladder which eventually leads to perfection.

Quite often there are regrettable things in the past which are not mistakes but which were necessary.

Perhaps the Great War might come under this classification. That depends entirely upon the point of view.

However, all will agree that whether necessary or not, dwelling on is an unprofitable business from which we can hope to gain nothing. Glean from the lessons we learned during the war whatever good is possible and then drop it from memory. And each year when the anniversary for our entrance into the war rolls around, do not waste a day or two thinking how unnecessary it was, how much better it could have been managed, how much more you lost than other people and how much some people gained.

Disenchantment in regard to life is a sign of age—age in experience if not in years. Therefore if we want to be young and stay young we must keep our spirit of enchantment. We must look for the interesting in all experiences, and must not allow ourselves to get to the point where we look forward to a day as just twenty-four hours in which to work, eat and sleep. We should greet each day as a new adventure. If we but open our eyes and hearts, we will find the world about us both marvellous and entertaining.

We were glad to see Mont Hale at the play Wednesday night.

Mae Johnson had as her guest this week her sister, Miss Mary Johnson, of Williamson.

The nature study class is collecting some very interesting specimens including snakes, lizards and salamanders.

She was a pitiable sight and aroused not only the sympathy, but the chivalry of the soldier.

"Won't you let me carry your suitcase?" he asked. "I'm sure it is much too heavy for you, especially in this weather."

She looked up quickly, doubtfully.

In her eyes was a mixture of thankfulness and fright, as if she needed and wanted aid, but mistrusted the stranger. He saw the look and would have reassured her, but scarcely knew what he could say that would increase her trust in him.

"Why, er—I think I can—" she began, but he interrupted her.

"I really believe it's too heavy for you, and you'll freeze if you're long out in this weather. I was always taught to help a lady when she was in any difficulty," he added.

This seemed to reassure her for she smiled a faint little smile, murmured an embarrassed thanks and handed him the suitcase.

"I'm going to my brother's house about a mile down the road and a half mile to the right from the road. I came on an earlier train than he expected me and for that reason the car was not at the station."

"All right, I think I know the place. I've seen it from a distance," and off they started, soldier in the lead, kicking the snow aside at every step in an effort to make easier walking for her.

As they walked along he began to realize how very cold it was. He looked back at his companion and saw that she was trying hard to conceal the chattering of her teeth and the shivering of her body. He thought his big heavy overcoat would do her more good than it would him, but decided that he must use strategy to get her to accept it.

"Have you noticed it getting warmer?" he asked, turning around.

"No, I think it is getting colder if anything," she answered.

"Well, it must be my uniform, then. It's so thick and warm. I suspect you had better take this coat. I don't need it."

"No, no, you—" she started to protest, but he already had the coat off. So she accepted, a little shamefacedly.

But it was so cold, and he was such a kind man that she just couldn't help accepting the good warm coat.

The High School Play.

The play given Wednesday evening of last week at the Garden theater, under the auspices of the Louise High School, was an unqualified success and much praise is due Miss Ruth Hall of the high school faculty who labored so earnestly to make a success of the undertaking.

A crowded house was present to witness the performance, notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions of the weather, and everyone seemed pleased with the entertainment.

A good start was made on the piano fund for our high school and we hope to have this much needed instrument at the beginning of the next year of school.

Especial thanks are due Mrs. Castern, Mrs. Brickner, Mr. John Vaughan and Mr. Norman Remmeli for the musical rendering.

We also wish to thank Mr. Homer O'Neal for taking the part in the play which was at first assigned to Mont Hale, who, on account of illness, was unable to take part. Mr. O'Neal had to prepare the part after Monday afternoon and did exceptionally well. All characters performed their parts remarkably well and we feel that the play as a whole was a success.

Ella Marie Kinstler was ill Friday and was unable to attend tests.

The High School was not in session this week as the Board of Education has generously given the time in order that the high school teachers may attend the Kentucky Educational Association which is in session all of the week in Louisville.

Mae Johnson spent the week-end at her home in Williamson, W. Va.

He apparently became better and was removed to his home and his condition was improved to such an extent that he was able to walk about the rooms of his home, but on Monday morning preceding his death he took a turn for the worse, the affection of the eye going to the brain and he became delirious and was unconscious until relieved by death.
